The world showed her “tough love.”

But what Kimberly needed was

It's horrible for any mother to face the hard truth that she can no longer care for her own child. But that was the harsh reality for Kimberly Davis when her parents came to take her son away. Even harder was the fact that it would take six more years on the streets before Kimberly was ready for change — years of drugs, prostitution, and abuse.

But Kimberly finally found help at Serenity Shelter, KARM's residential recovery program for women. Here, she embraced the healing that only comes through a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. In the end, she was restored to hope, restored to dignity, and restored to her family.

Kimberly recently brought her mother to Serenity Shelter to meet some of the people who helped her on her journey. Afterward, Kimberly's mother said that she could now see just how Kimberly had been so completely restored ... and how Christ was clearly working through KARM.

Well, that comes as no surprise. We know that Christ works through our caring staff and volunteers. And we know that He works through generous supporters like you.

Please consider making a heartfelt gift to support Serenity Shelter — and help ensure that lost and broken lives continue to be restored in His name.
